

Bio – Susan Peters

I am originally from Woodstock, New York and currently live in Fuquay Varina, North Carolina. I have always been interested in funeral service from the time I attended a career day event in middle school. But until recently I was following another career path. But as of late, I decided to make my dream become a reality and start working towards a degree in Funeral Service. I am currently enrolled in Fayetteville Technical Community College in the Funeral Service Program and plan to be graduating in the spring of 2020.

I look forward to serving the community in the capacity of a Funeral Director and Embalmer and am excited to pursue this new career! Additionally, I would like to pursue more advanced classes in restorative arts.

In addition to school and work, I enjoy spending time creating original artwork and I also enjoy practicing hot yoga, riding my Tennessee Walking Horses, and traveling with my family.
